Before painting a portrait, artists VISUALIZE their subjects. Before writing novels, authors visualize their stories. Before graduating from high school, students visualize their futures. Visualization is a technique used to imagine a 'what if' scenario before actually materializing it in real life. In class, on stage, and on the field, students at Wellesley High VISUALIZE their dreams and aspirations before manifesting them in their studies and passions.

The editors of this book wanted to reflect the forward thinking nature of visualization utilizing the most current graphic trends. To CREATE this book, the staff referenced contemporary designs like organic textures, intersecting lines, and edgy type-personalities. Additionally, the editors wanted to step outside of the norm with metallic colors and unconventional imagery, as if to INSPIRE the Wellesley High community to perpetually think OUT OF THE BOX and challenge their expectations. The staff hopes that you will use this book now, to REFLECT upon your current state of mind, and later, to recreate all of the MEMORIES we've shared this year as a school community.

For the members of the class of 2016, senior year is culmination of four years of learning, growing and making memories. Being a senior means being a leader, not just for the underclassman but for the entire community. Senior Megan Harrington said, "As a senior, you feel a responsibility to step up and be a leader for the underclassman. From sports to just around the school, I feel like we all stepped it up." Beyond the responsibilities, there are numerous events and privileges designed just for the senior class. Lizzie Webb said, "I loved the teen center dance we had and I can't wait to go on senior project." Other highlights are the eighties dance, getting their senior men and women shirts, prom and of course, graduation. Sophie Vernon said, "I have loved my four years here at the high school and I wouldn't trade it for the world. Senior year has been full of nostalgia. You begin to appreciate everyone and everything when you realize that this is your last year here."

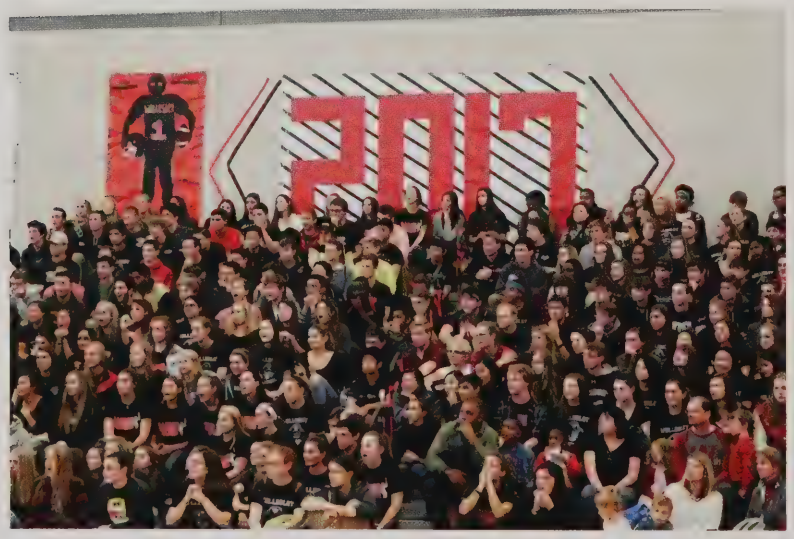
ONE SEVEN Juniors

The Juniors sit and enjoy the annual Thanksgiving Day Game Pep Rally all wearing their Raider Pride shirts.



Junior year is known for being the toughest year academically. However, with new changes such as access to a Junior pass first semester, and no more Junior Thesis, the Class of 2017 was able to have a stressful, yet successful year. Third year Class President Tony Shu described his Junior year by saying, "Junior year has definitely been a year of growth. I have never pushed myself so hard academically and I think everyone is discovering new ways to manage their time and work more efficiently. Even though Junior year is tough, I find that I learn more the more I am challenged." Junior Lindsay Canaday explained how she managed not to get too stressed this year saying, "It is an important year to prepare for college, but it doesn't have to be too overwhelming if you stay on top of things".

ONE EIGHT Sophomores

Abbie Silverstein ('18)
"Being class president has been such an incredible experience. It's amazing to see our class come together and strengthen the bond that I know will grow stronger with each year."

After a year in the high school, the class of 2018 is finally coming into themselves. The tone for the 2015-2016 school year was set last spring when four new class officers were elected. New class secretary Jameson O'Neil described his role saying, "my experience as a class officer has been great this year. Not only do I enjoy helping plan and coordinate events for my classmates, but I love seeing the final result and seeing my peers excited and eager for events!" The class events are not just a highlight for the officers but for everyone. Elise Coakley said, "The class talent show was one of my favorite events. I had the opportunity to be one of the emcees this year with Anne Griffin and Jay Corscadden. It was so fun to introduce each act and spend the night with my grade. It was one of the best nights of the year!" Many agreed with Elise that the talent show was a highlight, but others selected something more personal, like finally getting their driver's license. "Being able to drive myself is so freeing," Catie Jones remarked, "You have so much more freedom sophomore year. I feel somewhat grown up for the first time in life. Emphasis on the somewhat though." Growing up has been a experience for many students. Paula Rodriguez said, "I've gotten much better at managing my work and responsibilities." Tim Sheehan agreed with her adding, "Last year I was much more reserved but now I'm more confident and willing to take risks." For many, these first years at the high school have been some of the best of their life. When asked what she was looking forward to in the remainder of her time at WHS, Gale Bennett responded, "I'm looking forward to two more years with the best class in the entire world."

ONE NINE Freshmen

Freshman year is one the most exciting times during all of high school. For many students, the period is categorized by changes and excitement. Most members of the class of 2019 love the transition. "I love having drop days," Maggie Hartnett said, "It makes managing my work so much easier." The newly found freedom is something universally loved by all freshman. Annie Jackowitz said "it is nice to be able to mix up where and who we sit with everyday at lunch. We have a lot more independence and opportunities to pursue different interests than at middle school."

Most students can't wait to take advantage of all the different classes, clubs and other organizations. Carina Coelho said, "I love being able to take business classes. It's something I've been interested in for a long time and I'm so glad that I can explore that department." For the class of 2019, this year has been a fantastic start to a great four years to come.

BRADFORD // MRS. NOVOGROSKI

PERRIN // MR. BENDER

HOUSE SYSTEM

THE SECOND FLOOR

The Bradford house occupies the second floor of Wellesley High School. The office stays bustling with students coming in and out during school hours. Bradford house master, Mrs. Novogroski, is accompanied by guidance counselors Ms. Coughlin, Ms. Hurley, Ms. Sannicandro, and Ms. Myers. Mrs. Novogroski oversees many important tasks as house master and generally keeps a very busy schedule. She engages with students throughout her days in and out of her office on the second floor. Housemasters possess paramount power after the principal of Wellesley High School and are tasked with many essential administrative jobs.

THE THIRD FLOOR

The Perrin house is located on the third floor. The guidance counselors who work with Perrin house students are Mr. Steere and Ms. Trask, and the house master is Mr. Bender. Housemaster Mr. Bender says "Housemasters take on responsibility of assistant principals. We have oversight of everything that has to do with a student. The idea is to be able to create smaller communities within the school. Personalizing the education is what we are trying to do. That is why all functions of a student's life really go through each of the house offices." While Mr. Bender admits that he does not get to have one to one interactions with students as much as he might like to, he believes the house system works well and gives students the opportunity to be more involved and closer to their communities.

THE FOURTH FLOOR

Up on the fourth floor resides the Phillips House. The Phillips house master is Mr. Kelton. Funny, charismatic, and understanding, Mr. Kelton has no problems relating to or dealing with students. Working with Mr. Kelton in the Phillips house are the guidance counselors on the fourth floor including Ms. Sozio, Ms. Stone, and Ms. Walendin. Mr. Kelton stays immersed in his duties as a house master throughout his days and works hard to accomplish his tasks. The fourth floor is commonly known to be the 'reigning champion' of the annual Halloween spirit/costume competition. The Phillips house knows how to bring a little spirit at WHS and never fails to do so.

EVOLUTIONS

Introducing, "the school within our school," an interdisciplinary experience offered to Juniors and Seniors.

A new option this year, the Evolutions program is an insightful way for students in eleventh grade and above to learn in an environment vastly different from a traditional classroom. The ideology behind the program is that life is not separated into multiple sections or subjects, and rather, life demands a person to handle situations using skills, critical thinking, and expertise all at once. The Evolutions program allows kids to learn core subjects like Math, Art, English, Science, and History through more interactive and interdisciplinary ways. This new approach to learning allows students to pursue more of their individual interests, in the context of larger academic areas. For example, in one unit titled "Man versus Machine" some students tried out robotics while others created pieces of theater to perform.

One Evolutions student, Tess Buckley ('17) says, "It is often thought in 'regular' school that if you are having fun, you are not working hard. If you are spending hours over a book or weeks hating the learning you are doing, that is considered hard work. In Evolutions the opposite is true. The hardest work gets done when everyone participates and is enjoying what they are learning."

"I wanted to feel like what I was learning had a purpose and it wasn't just for the sake of learning." - K. Hall ('16)

"Students are becoming more confident risk takers. They are learning that it is OK to fail as long as you've tried your hardest and reflect[ed] on the process."

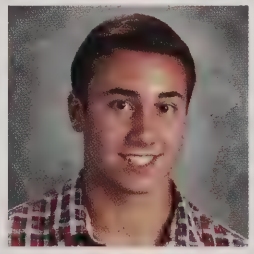
STUDENT VOICES

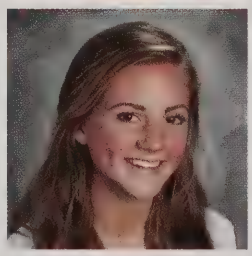
What is your favorite part of being Back to School?

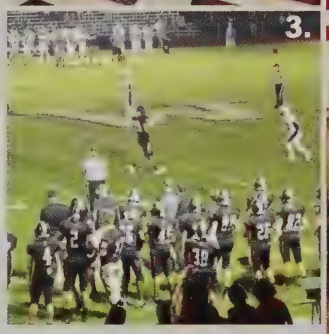
Matt Snyder ('16)
"My favorite part of back-to-school is reconnecting with classmates and friends and hearing about their summers."

Graham Harris ('17)
"My favorite part of back to school is seeing everyone I haven't seen in awhile."



Kayleigh Harris ('16)
"My favorite parts about being back to school was seeing all my friends, enjoying the festivities like the all-school assembly, watching new morning announcements, and finally being the oldest and coolest in school."





1. The football team is back in action and ready to take on other teams with their hard work, determination and hustle.
2. Dr. Chisum gives an inspirational speech in the Wellesley High School pep rally.
3. The school gathers at the night game and brings the spirit to cheer on the raider football team.
4. The senior men preform the annual senior mens dance at the pep rally.

BACK IN ACTION

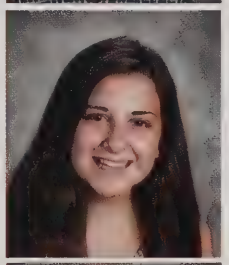
Matthew Hornung ('16)
"Being back to school gives me another chance to get back to work on projects and accomplish things left over from past years and ones new to this year."



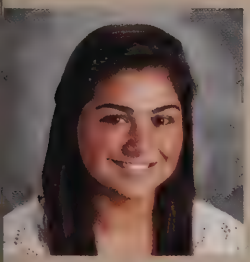
Zoe Tunkelrott ('16)
"I look forward to the class events that will bring our class closer."

Cypress Smith ('17)
"My favorite part of being back in school is seeing everyone I missed over the summer and feeling the collective effort of everyone to learn in new ways and tackle what the year throws at us!"

"The collective effort of everyone to learn in new ways and tackle what the year throws at us."
- C. Smith ('17)

STUDENT VOICES

What do you look forward to this school year?



Emily Zeytoonjian ('16)
"I look forward to spending the end of my high school career with my friends and I look forward to my future at college!"

Mae Sheehan ('18)
"What I am looking forward to most this year is meeting new people and also being a sophomore instead of a freshman."

Joanna Wrobel ('18)
"I look forward to being with my friends and finding new realizations about myself and areas that interest me."

HALLOWEEN PARADE

"I think the Halloween parade is a great tradition of WHS, and I think its a great way of defusing some tension that comes with the first half of senior year."

Every year, the WHS students and staff enthusiastically wait for the senior Halloween parade. Most seniors have been waiting to march in costume ever since their freshman year. This year the costumes were through the roof with creativity and cleverness. There was a spread of originality from Toy Story characters to the "Other Breakfast Club". Every student had a blast at the Parade. Senior Lizzie Webb says, "it was really fun to take part in the parade because it was awesome to see everyone's costumes and hang out as a grade in a stress free environment." The senior Halloween parade is a day for each student to express themselves and have a little fun in school.

"I think it says a lot about WHS that we can see the value in other people displaying their interests, and I hope that the Halloween parade will continue on so people can do just that."

FOOTBALL

"Playing at Fenway was a dream come true. Even though the outcome was not as I had hoped, I am very proud of how we played and I'll always remember it."

The Wellesley Raiders Football team began putting in work long before the school year even began. The team took a trip up to Camp Caribou in Maine over the summer to prepare for the season ahead. They spent a grueling week perfecting their skills and bonding as one team. Soon after the kickoff of their first game, the Raiders proved all their preseason effort was worth it. Starting the season off on a positive note with a win against Peabody, the fans saw a great deal of camaraderie and hard work on the field. The team capitalized both on this surge of energy and the variety of talents from players of all ages beat one of their rivals, Walpole. Senior captain Griffin Morgan said, "beating Walpole for the first time since 1999, that was pretty sweet." "Pretty sweet" hardly captures the amazement of this defeat. With help from the coaches and from the outstanding hard work from the players, Wellesley won the game 7-6. The football team gave a new meaning to being a Raider. Senior captain Will Cramer said, "We've changed our mind-set and embraced adversity in all of its forms, instead of letting the adversity get us down". The coaches saw what the team needed to do in order to be successful and win games, so they put in countless hours of work to get the team ready to win. With these changes to the team, the Raiders were very determined to beat Needham in the annual Thanksgiving day game, which took place at Fenway park. Although they did not get the result they wanted and deserved, senior captain Jake Mohan was very proud of his team, "Even though the outcome was not as I had hoped, I'm very proud of how we played and I'll always remember it." Everyone will remember this year's Raiders.

BOYS SOCCER

The Wellesley Boys soccer team excelled this year with great athletes, excellent team communication, and amazing plays.

At Wellesley High School, the boys' varsity soccer team brings their all to every game. Senior Sean Igoe says his "favorite thing about playing soccer is the banter amongst the team during practices and team dinners, and the fact that when we need to get serious and work hard, we can." While the boys may not have started off with the best season, they definitely picked up quickly. Senior Matt D'Anieri says, "My favorite moment of the season so far was the end of our game against Newton North. We hadn't won in over a week and we were down 2-0 at half, but we pulled together a comeback in the last 30 minutes to win 3-2. That win has really set the tone for the rest of our season, because after that we went from 3-5-1 to 7-5-2 over the course of a week and qualified for the playoffs."

The boys on the team feel that the team improved more mentally and physically this year than ever before. Senior Matt D'Anieri adds, "our mentality as a team this year is a lot better than it has been in the past. When we concede goals, we respond well and stay positive and confident rather than hanging our heads. Four of our wins have been 'come-from-behind' wins, which I think is a good indicator of our resilience." All in all, it was a great year for the Wellesley boys varsity soccer team.

"I feel amazing after a win, knowing that I put in all the effort I could for my team, with teammates around me who were willing to put in the effort for me too."

GIRLS SOCCER

"The members of this team are some of the hardest working girls around, who never give up, and who love the game."

The WHS girls soccer team knows how to fight an uphill battle. After falling short of expectations in the beginning of the season with a streak of losses, the team knew they could do better. Senior captain Emma Ivey said, "A big challenge that we've had to overcome as a team this year has been starting off with a lower record and having to work our way back from a rough start to the season." It was up to the four senior captains to make a change. Emma Ivy, Lucy Acuna, Michaela Webb, and Kayleigh Harris determined that before they could play well together, they needed to know each other better. Team bonding became a priority and shortly thereafter the captain's efforts paid off. Harris said, "This year we were able to bridge gaps between the grades and there was no sense of cliques. The new members were welcomed so easily, and the team just had so many fun personalities that we were always joking and cracking up." Their team-building work was a success and they continued their season with flying colors. Unfortunately there were also a couple of injuries impacting performance along the way but this would not stop the determined raider soccer team. Michaela Webb shared her thoughts about pushing past these roadblocks. "Izzy Hartnett and Katie Smith were standouts this season. They had to step in and play different positions when other girls got hurt and they give it their all every game." By putting their obstacles behind them the girls were able to make it to tournament. Losing in the first round was difficult, but the girls were proud of their success.

BOYS GOLF

The Varsity Boys Golf Team had a swinging year filled with lots of fun and friends!

It was a bittersweet last match for the seniors on the Varsity Golf Team. Although victorious, the match left most seniors feeling somber for it was the last match of their high school career. Many of this year's seniors have been playing on the team for nearly all of their four years. Overall, the team had a steady season and opened and closed with a strong win. Despite some challenges along the way and a few losses in the middle of the season, the team was able to come together towards the end and overcome what they had struggled with. Hence, the season's final victory was bittersweet, but entirely well deserved.

FIELD HOCKEY

"Our team is characterized by the work ethic and motivation of our players, but also our willingness to take a step back and just have fun with the game."

All the seniors can agree that this year the team has really become closer and learned to work with one another on the field. Anna Liss-Roy ('16) told us, "Our growth can be measured by how close we have become as a team, and this has also manifested itself in the way we play. Our passing and communication, both of which we struggled with at the beginning of the season, has improved as we have become closer and more comfortable with each other." With Captain Nicole Frontero ('16) out on the sidelines due to injury, other players stepped up their roles to make the team stronger. Captain Sophie Vernon ('16) said, "Our team has grown to work really well together and I think it is because we have solidified positions where everyone is playing at their best level." Team bonding was definitely a strength for the team this season and helps the team work together during practices and games. Senior Julia Coddington agreed by saying, "My favorite part about being on a team is that for 2.5 months you see the same girls everyday after school. This creates an environment in which everyone really becomes one unit." Overall the team can say they had a fun and successful season.

"Highs of the season is that the team has really came together and have learned how to play as a team on the field." - J. Coddington ('16)

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

Wellesley's Girl's volleyball has another fabulous season filled with a bunch of great hits! Go volleyball, you guys rock!

Expectations only matter until you step on the court. After finishing last season shy of tournament with a losing record, the Wellesley Girls Volleyball Team was motivated to improve their game. With the loss of long-time coach, Alice Liao, the young squad was uncertain about how their season would play out. A fresh burst of energy was all the girls needed and new head coach Matt Dugan provided just that. Captain Steph Luchene says about the new coach, "He has a way of making everything about the sport fun, and made it easy for the entire team to adjust to having a new coach." The team shattered everyone's previous assumptions and finished their regular season with a 16-2 record. This new found success was developed through hard work, dedication and an unbreakable bond that was formed throughout the season. Captain Jessie Sawyer described the team dynamic by saying, "we are like a family, and trust each other which is necessary to be successful as a whole." The forward momentum of a seven game winning streak carried them to the tournament, a place the program hadn't found themselves in four years. Luchene reflects on the first tournament game against Shrewsbury saying, "The adrenaline rush was something that I have never experienced before, and winning the game was an even better feeling." The girls capped off their season with an appearance at the Central West Sectional Championship, and came home with a second place trophy. Besides being a program dedicated to improving their volleyball game, the team is also committed to trying to help the greater good and was able to raise over $7,000 for breast cancer research in their Dig Pink event. Sophomore Megan Krueger, a member of the varsity team said, "It took a lot of hard work, and being able to achieve our goal of $7,000 is a huge success for the team and for all people affected by breast cancer."

CROSS COUNTRY

"Push through the pain"

There are many important qualities in a great runner. Speed, endurance, stamina- all of these are critical factors in success, yet there is one factor that cannot be measured. The will to win overpowers all other obstacles, and no program exemplifies this more than the Wellesley High School Cross Country team. After an under whelming season last year, the boys team needed some fresh energy. New head coach and former Olympian, Tim Broe, delivered this and was able to transform the Wellesley squad into one of the best in the Bay State. Senior captain Arjun Laud explained the transformation saying, "Not only has Coach Broe improved the physical element of the team by training smarter, he does a strong job at fostering a positive team environment that promotes confidence among all runners on the team." Coach Broe saw the potential in the team and made sure every single person carried their weight. Under the leadership of senior captains Caleb Brown, Arjun Laud, Harrison Gill and Thomas D'Anieri, Wellesley was able to attain a perfect 11-0 regular season. During the postseason, the team captured the BSC championship title and Thomas D'Anieri won the individual state title. The team would never have accomplished any of this if it wasn't for their incredible team dynamic and support for one another . Senior captain Caleb Brown described his love for his team saying, "Team dinners, with everyone's favorite Roche Bros cookies were a specific highlight of a strong community feeling, and it will be tough to leave the team, however I am confident that I am leaving the team in capable hands." After a stellar season the boys proved that Wellesley Cross Country is a force to be reckoned with.

The girls team faced different challenges as the squad had to fight through an injury plagued season. At first the girls were unable to compete as expected when some of their key runners were sidelined but quickly other team members stepped up and the girls hit their stride. Senior captain Eve Driver notes a turning point in their season at the Twilight invitational when "every varsity runner ran a personal record, and we had five girls break twenty minutes by a solid margin in the 5K." They girls finished their season with an impressive 7-4 record and a 5th place finish at the Bay State Conference championship. Many teams would have not been able to adjust to a season without some of their top athletes but senior captains Valerie Collins, Claire Sibold and Eve Driver refused to let this happen. All three girls were accomplished runners and were able to become trusted leaders for the team. Claire Sibold said, "I have loved being captain for cross country. Running is a sport that requires a lot of mental stamina and strength. I know that from competing over my high school career, so I love being able to motivate my team mates. If I know that my teammates have had a great race and put forth a good effort, It makes me extremely satisfied."

As the whistle sounds, the crowd grows silent; all focus is on the diver adjusting the board. Three loud booms echo in the pool area as the diver, mid air, performs a close to perfect dive.

Diving team senior captain Kristen Johnston reports the group as, "a really well bonded team so we were really supportive so at meets everyone's cheering 100% of the time. Everyone's really dedicated and gives 110% even though we are a small team this year". Aside from diving, the swim team excelled as well. "Everyone has been working their hardest and trying new things. It's been a great season! It's been great seeing everyone cheer each other on", swimming captain Catherine Murrey ('16) describes the dynamic team. In addition to having a strong season, swimmer Lily Gribbel ('16) and diver Kaitlin Mullin ('19) managed to break school records. The group overcame the challenges of being a small team, and pulled through with a fantastic season.

WINTER PLAY

For the fifth year in a row, the Wellesley High School Drama Society has chosen to self-script an original piece of theater for the winter production.

To write a show, the cast begins with simple prompts and is asked to create small scenes. After several short scenes have been produced, major characters start to emerge and soon become reoccurring. From there, a more defined plot is developed and more scenes are made until a full story line appears.

Writing an original piece of theater gives the actors in the show more ownership over the material they produce. "This year, we ended up finalizing the script about a week before our first performance", says senior Lexie Lehmann. "It was a bit scary at first, but everything came together really nicely. I had so much fun creating it with all of my friends."

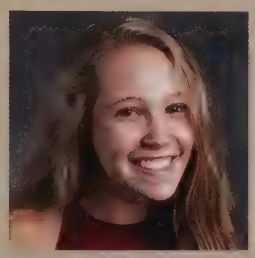
"It's super rewarding to be able to put content into improv scenes during rehearsal and see it become parts of the finished show and people enjoying it!"
- J. Connors ('16)

S. Weinberg ('16) as Peter Father, an outspoken conservative father in the shelter.

What was your favorite part about being in the winter show?

Will Fulginiti ('18)

"Being part of such a fantastic collaboration of brilliant and hilarious ideas, but most of all doing it with such amazing people."



Emma Frank ('18)

"Getting closer with the whole cast- they are all such amazing people! I also feel like I improved my improv and acting skills a ton in this experience."

Roberto Palestro ('17)

"Being around all my friends. For the seniors it was their last show and I was so happy to spend it with them."

HELTER SHELTER

This year's show is about a variety of wacky characters who become trapped in a government shelter during a blizzard. Some of the characters include a serial killer, a hyper-religious family, a drama troupe, and group of so-called "sloth people". While in the shelter, the characters put on a historical play about the Whisky Rebellion, and chaos and hilarity ensues.

After performing the piece for two night performances, an in-school crowd, and the Massachusetts Collaborative theater festival, the cast will take the show to Boston to perform with Weston High School at the Boston Playwright's Theater.

"You come out of the show feeling closer with others and feeling accomplished with yourself!"

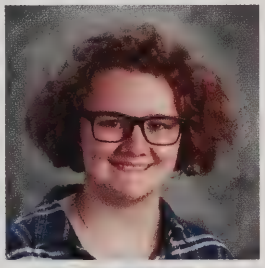
FROM THE DIRECTORS

An insight into what it's like for the seniors who direct the one act plays.

Bec Lowe ('16)

"My favorite thing was probably how close I got to my actors and the feeling of watching the show come together after all our hard work."



Eric Hershelman ('16)

"My favorite thing was coaching other students and watching them grow as actors throughout the process."

Olivia Boyd ('16)

"My favorite part was being on the other side than I normally am - I loved being able to make my vision become reality, and I loved working with my actors."

DIRECTOR'S CHOICE

Directing is no easy feat. The senior directors have complete control over their entire performance - including the costumes, technical elements, props, and blocking of the piece. For many, directing represents a conglomeration of all of their acting experiences throughout their four years in the high school. Additionally, directing gives students the chance to manifest their interests and personalities into a piece of theater that many can enjoy.

"My favorite thing was watching my actors grow and form meaningful connections on stage."

ONE ACTS

The fall One Act Festival is the last theater event of the calendar year, and also the largest project of the Acting IV Intensive class. Each year, the seniors in Acting IV are tasked with choosing, casting, directing, and producing a full, 10-minute long piece. One Acts are a long-standing favorite event in the drama department because they often involve students who do not normally participate in theater. This year, the 25 seniors in the class directed 24 one acts plays, meaning the festival was the largest and longest one act event in the school's recent history.

The festival contained short pieces that were both comedic and dramatic. One detailed a family and daughter in the moments before a fatal car crash, while another portrayed a parody of the iconic Hardy Boys stories. One standout moment from the event was when the lights panel short-circuited and the black box went dark in the middle of one performance - provoking several members of the audience to take our their phones and light the stage until the piece was finished. Overall, this year's festival was an extraordinary success.

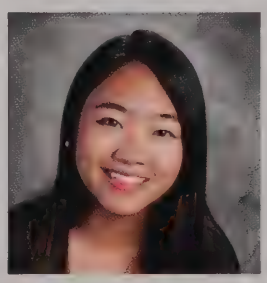
FROM THE ACTORS

What was your favorite part about being in a one act?

Blake Foster ('17)
"Getting the acting and on stage experience with very little time commitment; it fit perfectly into my schedule."



Joanna Wu ('16)
"All the fun that I had performing in front of my friends, family, and teachers in the black box theater!"

Liam Skelly ('17)
"How lack of experience was completely normal. That's why I think One Acts can be a great way for someone to try drama, without committing completely."

BOYS HOCKEY

This year the boys hockey team came out with a bang and had an incredibly successful season.

The squad began their season with an impressive winning streak. Many teams would get complacent with such success, but the boys continued to push themselves harder and harder each game with no complaints. Senior Captain Kevin Ward said, "The best part of the season was beating Weymouth after being down 3-1 after the first period, and we ended up winning 5-1 in the last two periods despite the adversity with being down by two and losing a player." They were able to cap off the season with a 10-6-1 record. After such an incredible year, the hockey team showed they are a top rate squad.

Kevin Ward ('16)

"Being a captain has made the experience more meaningful for me because it makes me realize how precious the experience is as a whole and that you can't take a second off,"

Carter Huff ('16)

"Being a captain makes it more important to lead by example."

GIRLS HOCKEY

This year the Wellesley High School girl's ice hockey team enjoyed a fun season filled with hard work and long-lasting memories.

This year, the Wellesley girls hockey team started off the season with great energy and high hopes. After back-to-back appearances in the state championship, the girls are hoping the third time's the charm to finally secure the title. Senior Captain Danielle Hickman said, "I am looking forward most to working towards the Garden again this year." Over the years the team has developed many pre-game rituals to ensure their success. Sophomore Katie Hawkinson said "We do the same warm up before every game. In the locker room we go around and say our goals for the game and on our way out of the locker room we touch a sign that says 2 points" The girls are able to work so well together because they make team bonding a priority. Hickman described it saying, "We have team dinners before our home games. We also love to go to get ice cream together such as Shake Shack on Friday nights after our 9pm practices." Hawkinson added "the team is basically like a family. We bond over the 6am practices before school and 9pm practices at Cleveland circle on Friday nights. I think we have become closer than any other sports teams because of our crazy schedule." Hickman agreed, "My favorite thing about playing ice hockey is that the team is always so close. We all get along really well, which makes it so much fun!"

"My favorite thing about playing hockey is the team dynamic. So many different people contribute to the game making it fun to watch your teammates succeed individually but also together." - K. Noonan ('16)

Boys Basketball eagerly push through a tough season with the support and encouragement of the crowd

As the buzzer sounds, all eyes are focusing on the ball in mid air. Seconds feel like hours as the players, and the audience, hold their breath until the ball swooshes through the net. The silent gymnasium jumps in celebration as the talented team wins another game. Senior captain Jake Mohan describes a group strength of "staying together through adversity and working really hard in practice to improve every day. We have been improving our rebounding and trying to be tougher than our opponents". Although the team hit a rough patch, captain Tim Rey knows the determined players will overcome all challenges with the help of Coach Reidy. Tim reports, "I think Coach Reidy has the team in a great place, and there's a lot of young talent, with kids who love to work hard. Hopefully we can get back to our winning ways". As for the team in years to come, senior Stu Badertscher says, "I have high hopes for the team, there is a lot of talent in the grades below us and I think the whole program is going to be strong in the near future. I look forward to coming back and seeing the growth". The boys basketball team lived up to the tradition of being a fan pleaser and has continuously focused on improvement, insuring they can be the best.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The 2015-2016 season has been one for the history books for the Wellesley Girls Varsity Basketball team.

The 2015-2016 season has been one for the history books for the Wellesley girls varsity basketball team. Junior captain Dorian Cohen said, "This season has been really successful so far. We pride ourselves on our defense and the team works really well together." By utilizing one of the deepest benches in the Bay State conference, the girls sailed to a 13-7 season record. Senior Captain Emma Ivey explained their success saying, "Our chemistry off of the court carries us and allows us to play cohesively this season." Despite all of their success, the squad still had to overcome some obstacles. Senior Captain Katie Williamson said, "I think one of our major obstacles is being consistent on offense, but everyday I think we get better at it ." This year was an incredibly special one with many amazing moments. Ivey said, "A highlight for me was when we played Braintree, the two time defending state champs, at home because we had a great crowd of fans that made the very close game even more exciting ." Katie Williamson also loved the Braintree game but said, "My favorite moment was definitely playing in the TD garden against Needham." Dorian Cohen added about the TD garden game, "Watching every single player's hard work pay off when everyone scored during that game."

"This season has been such a different experience that past years. We all have our roles on the team lift each other up." - E. Ivey ('16)

WRESTLING

Wrestling is a physically demanding sport , which requires not only physical strength, but the right mentality.

This year the wrestling team fought hard. With a growing year from last year the Raiders did not give up hope. The team showed immense spirit and a couple participants were quite successful. Josh Cohen ('18) and Lucy Grignaffini ('18) both achieved athlete of the week for wrestling and went far into the MIAA state tournament. Although the team as a whole did not have a fantastic season, several individuals were successful. Matthew Buonaiuto ('17) says, "We had a lot of holes in the lineup so we didn't have that great of a season, but at tournaments we had a lot of good individual work." These athletes know how to push hard and do their best. Senior Captain Niles Breuer says, "It was great to get to work and grow with all the people on the team and see them do so well."

SPORT Q&A

After a years wrestling, upperclassmen reflect about their season, and their time with the program over the past few years.

Matthew Buonaiuto ('17)
"For this season, we had a lot of holes in the lineup so our overall record was not great but we did well individually."

Niles Breuer ('16)
"I would have to say my time as a captain was one of my highlights during my time at high school."

GYMNASTICS

Leaps, Leotards, and Legacy

The 2015-2016 season was another incredible year for the Wellesley High School gymnastics team. The squad capped off an undefeated season with their 7th straight Bay State Conference title. Senior captain Olivia Novins commented on the season saying, "Being undefeated in the regular season and winning the Bay State Conference meet really exemplified all the hard work everyone put in throughout the season." With seven seniors, the class of 2016 left a major impact on the team over their four years at the high school. Novins added, "Gymnastics has been such an amazing part of my high school experience! I've made great friends from being on the team and by the end of the season the whole team grows very close with each other." For the team, bonding with each other is a priority. Sophomore Kelly Banks described the team dynamic. She said, "I loved becoming friends with each and every person on the team. The gymnastics team is the greatest team in the school. We love each other so much and always push each other to do our best. You might think that gymnastics is an individual sport but none of use would be able to succeed without our teammate's support." After such an amazing experience, ending high school gymnastics will be hard for every graduating senior. Megan Harrington added, "gymnastics has been a huge part of my life since preschool and I can't explain how much I am going to miss it next year."

DANCE TEAM

"I love being able to mix art and competition through Dance team. It is such an unique opportunity." - P. Caron ('18)

The Wellesley High School Dance team is one of the most demanding and unique sports at the school. Like any other varsity squad they have hours of grueling practice each week but unlike any other team, dance members must master complex choreography and make the moves look easy to execute. Senior captain Joanna Wu described the team's schedule saying, "The girls have been working hard all year, performing at Friday night home varsity basketball games." The squad is responsible for keeping the crowd energized, encouraging the basketball team, and performing during halftime. In addition, the team also competes against other teams across the region. Senior Isabel Jones said, "We had our first competition and placed in third. This is the first time in my four years on the team that we've placed, so Joanna and I are very excited! Competitions are fun because the teams are supportive of each other but it's stressful to have to watch other teams before performing." For every member of the team, the chance to compete is a highlight of the season. Wu added, "Competition is one of my favorite parts about the season, as we get to see so many cool teams from our area such as Newton North or Needham perform. The Emmanuel Invitation is also a really cool competition because we get to watch incredible college dance teams from schools like Boston University or Connecticut College."

"The highlight of the season so far was coming in third our Emmanuel competition and bringing the trophy home."

BOYS SWIM & DIVE

The team goes undefeated in the league for the first time since 2001.

The boys started off their season as the underdogs. They "lost [their] top two divers and one of [their] best swimmers last year and things didn't look amazing going into the season" admitted Senior Kyle Noel. Despite all this, the boys still came out on top. "This season was so much different from any previous seasons that I've swam in because we actually had a chance at doing very well in all of the big meets throughout the season. This was all discovered unbeknownst to all of us after we saw how big of a role teamwork could play in the overall outcome in any meet" said Junior Hayden Gribbel. Captain Matt Scherrer reflected back on the past four years he spent on the team saying, "when I started as a freshman, the seniors on the team that year were happy to have won three meets because it was more meets than they had won in their previous seasons combined. Now after an undefeated regular season, as well as placing third at sectionals and top ten at states, I now understand the immense pride those seniors felt after seeing four years of hard work pay off in a culmination of the best season since 2001". The boys this year can thank their unbelievable camaraderie for a majority of their wins. "Spending 12+ hours a week with the same group of guys in tights suits really brings you closer together" explained Hayden Gribbel ('17). Hopefully the boys will continue their winning streak next winter.

Junior T. Adrouge ('17) started off this season being the only diver for the team, and ended up placing third overall at the Bay State Conference as well as fourteenth at Sectionals.

Tommy Adrogue ('17)

"It was an amazing feeling to go undefeated. This team fought hard even when we were down or if the other team was supposed to best us. We had a lot of guys do big things in big meets and seeing the guts and heart that this team had during this season was amazing."

SKI TEAM

Wellesley Ski Team had a great season filled with snow and some good memories!

As one of the only coed teams in the high school, the ski team members form countless and friendly camraderie as the season progresses. The girls team started off strong with Captain Sami Rubin leading the league until an unfortunate accident left her sitting out for the remainder of the season. Fortunately, junior Nell Solomon was able to step up and ultimately placed first overall in the league. The girls won their league with three girls placing in the top twenty. Sophomore Kim Bishop placing fourth, senior captain Sierra Goodhue placing fifth and junoir Sydney Stemple placing nineteenth. The boys came in fourth with junior Jack Mckenna placing sixth. The team moved on to states with five girls and four boys qualifying and from there Nell Solomon and Jack Mckenna both qualified and were invited to be a part of Team Massachusetts at Easterns. The season ended with many tearful good-byes at the team banquet.

"I'm really going to miss ski team, the bond the team has created is unlike any other team relationship I have experienced. The memories I have created the past four years are by far some of the best of my high school experience."

Brian Baker '16
"Ski team has a great atmosphere because all grades and both boys and girls practice and compete together."

NORDIC SKI TEAM

The Nordic team has skated their way into victory!

This year the Welesley High School Nordic Ski Team had an incredible year. The girls had an unbelievable record and went all the way the the State Championships. The team pushes themselves beyond compare and never gives up hope during tough races. This team has grown throughout the last couple of years and Senior Captain Claire Sibold says, "It makes me incredible proud of all the hard work my teammates have contributed over the past few years to make our team a force to be reckoned with." Both the boys and girls teams ski hard, do their best, and end up on top continuously through the nordic season. Senior Captain Jason Canaday believes the Wellesley Nordic Ski Team has a very bright future. He proudly states, " Wellesley Nordic has been getting better every year and it only looks better in the future. It's a great feeling to have such a large and motivated team that appreciates the opportunity we have to ski all winter."

INDOOR TRACK

The Indoor Track team ran with their sights set on success.

"Although we didn't win the Herget as we had hoped I'm am really proud of the team this season. We had a lot of new team members this year and everyone really stepped up to do what was best for the team," exclaimed Senior and Captain Callahan Wilde. The team camaraderie is very apparent—when asked what she will miss most about Indoor Track Senior and Captain Leah Struzenski responded, "I think I will miss the team the most. Running is such a strenuous sport that you really need to love your teammates to be able to really enjoy it. I have such close friends on the team and I'm so glad I have them." Senior and Captain Kaylie Corda agreed, "This season has been amazing! I have the best group of throwers and we have become somewhat of a family. Track has been a really important part of my life and I am very lucky to have been part of this team and pass on my knowledge to younger throwers!" Senior Arjun Laud reflects on the team's success and progress: "The team has put in a lot of work with high mileage, lifting, and core strength work. A highlight this year was definitely beating Walpole, which the boys team has been looking to for quite a while." Senior and Captain Leah Struzenski summarizes the experience of Indoor Track: "The venue we compete in, the Reggie Lewis center in Boston, is so intense and big that you really feel like you're doing something important."

YEARBOOK

This school year the yearbook staff worked hard and creatively while constructing the book. Newcomer Grace Maggiacomo ('18) said "I loved being on the yearbook staff this year! It was amazing to see all the work that goes into making the yearbook possible." This year the yearbook's theme was Visualize, which essentially symbolized envisioning a future and the endless possibilities within it. Different people worked on different pages, but everyone always helped their classmates work on various assignments. Lily Gribbel ('16) explained "The girls in this class work extremely well together because everyone has their own skill set—some people are best at editing page spreads, while others enjoy the journalist aspect more." Maggiacomo added on, "My favorite memory/part of yearbook is that our class is so small so you get to bond with everyone and meet new people. Everyone on the staff treats each other with kindness and respect so we get a lot of work done while having fun!" Gribbel revealed "I personally love the design component of yearbook. The highlight of this year for me was probably working directly with the Jostens designer to create this year's cover. It was exciting to collaborate with someone who has so much experience and watch how our different ideas came together in the end to make something truly unique and something that really captured 2016 as a whole."

3. Editors E. Hansen ('16), L. Lehmann ('16), S. Goodhue ('16) stand for a photo
4. The girls make silly faces

Mae Sheehan ('18)

"Yearbook has been the best break in my day for 2 years now. I love working efficiently with all of the staff in the class. I would recommend anyone to yearbook!"

Erika Hansen ('16)

"I have been a part of the yearbook staff for three years. Being an editor is a lot of responsibility but it's a good feeling when everything comes together in the end and looking back on what the yearbook staff has created. Yearbook would not be the same without the other staff members who I have become so close to and make the class fun!"

BRADFORD

1. The editors smile for a picture.
2. The staff poses for a silly photo.
3. The team holds up their favorite editions of the Bradford.

This year the Bradford worked hard to voice their input on certain affairs and surpassed succession. Matthew Hornung ('16), one of the newspaper editors, said "I enjoy working on the newspaper because it gives me an opportunity to objectively guide constructive discussions pertaining to school and community issues." The team that creates the newspaper is tight-knit, according to Hornung "The paper's leadership team relies on a strong level of mutual trust and understanding to function effectively." The Bradford produces many papers throughout the year that contain interesting stories and opinions on various subjects within and out of the community. Hornung adds, "I personally value the team's ability to decipher and discuss our perspectives on how best to report or comment on various issues, producing a meaningful and unified plan as to how we can shape our voice in the high school community."

Jameson O'Neil ('18)

"I really enjoy working on The Bradford. Not only is it a meaningful way to learn about journalism, but you get the chance to write interesting articles about teachers, students, sports teams, theatre productions, and more. My favorite moment from the year is most likely our watching of the fil Shattered Glass, which tells the tale of a journalist at The New Republic who fabricated multiple stories during his career."

RED INK

Red Ink Magazine is a student-run organization at Wellesley High School. Members often enjoy reading/writing poetry, listening to music, and displaying their creative passions. Editor Gabby Clifford ('16) says "I love working on red ink! It has been a pleasure to collaborate with the club members on advertising, submissions, and the website." Red Ink Magazine members range from freshmen to seniors; everyone is welcome. For many students, Red Ink gives them a chance to share their original pieces with the public. Clifford adds "... red ink has given me a taste of what it's like to get your work published, which is an incredible feeling." The club offers students to express and share their creative talents, as well as gain web and editing skills in the process.

2. Editors R. Landau ('16) and C. Baffa ('17) grin at the camera.
3. The Red Ink staff stands with smiles.
4. The students gathers for a photo.

Rachel Landau ('16)

"I love Red Ink. The magazine has created such a fun and creative community, and I really enjoy working with the other editors to collect submissions and put forth advertisements. We always have the most incredible conversations as a group—the other staff members and I share many stories from our day, our lives... Also, Mr. Henes is the perfect faculty advisor. Altogether Red Ink has given me a unique window into the creative world that thrives in the halls of Wellesley High School."

PHOTO

Photo club provides a free and open space for students to gain photography skills and have fun. Senior Rachel Landau said, "Photo club has always been such a significant source of relaxation for me–Spending Wednesday afternoon in the peaceful quiet of the darkroom is a necessary component of my school week. I love talking to Mr. Johnson and deeply enjoy our field trips to shops in Harvard Square and galleries along Newbury Street." Photo club is a way for students to enjoy photography outside of school and still spend time with their peers. The relaxing atmosphere lets students do something they love in a place without stress.

Kate Hall ('17)

"I love photo club because it's a place where people can build their photography skills without any stress or judgement. The club allows the opportunity to learn at your own pace and at the level you feel most comfortable."

Rachel Landau ('16)

"Photo club has offered me opportunities to share my photography with others and form a friendly community around a common goal. The club also provided many chances to learn techniques that are not part of the typical photo curriculum."

Sophie Tortorella ('16)

"The Creative Haiti project is something our class has really committed to this year and so far has had great success with. We got to work with artist in Haiti and help run their small business here in Wellesley. It's about creating sustainable communities and allowing them to succeed on their own by creating jobs and business opportunities."

Saskia Higgins ('17)

"I love working in the school store because it's a class with a lot of freedom. We can play music and work with our friends while we sell Wellesley merchandise. I also really like that almost everything we sell is designed by us and seeing people wear something that I helped make is really cool to me."

BUSINESS

The Wellesley High School Business department gives students many opportunities to create and design with their peers and get hands on experience with business, finance, and marketing. The Creative Haiti Project and the school store give students hands on experience and opportunities unlike any other class. Organization and leadership are just some of the skills students pick up while taking a business course. While developing their design skills students learn to create and sell their own Wellesley gear for their peers to buy. Incredible opportunities and students fill the business department every year learning and gaining more experience about the business world.

KEY CLUB

Key Club has been one of the most popular clubs at Wellesley High School for many years. With over 200 members, it's amazing to see so many Wellesley High School students who are willing to dedicate at least thirty hours of service to the Wellesley community and communities around Wellesley. Some of Key Club's achievements this year have been collecting money for the Salvation Army, helping out at Scouting for Food, working at the Pancake Breakfast, clearing trails in Wellesley, and volunteering at various elementary school events. Besides having a huge impact on the world around them, Key Club officer Matthew Hornung ('16), spoke about the effect Key Club has had on him saying that Key Club inspires, "many of my personal beliefs and life goals that I hold today."

2. A. Finklestein ('16) and Z. Tirmizi ('17) volunteer at Upham Elementary school
3. T. McClennen ('18) assists a young student at Fiske's annual Wild West Roundup
4. B. Lussier ('19) and E. Wadja ('19) set up and delivered trees at St. John Tree's and Trimmings

Jason Canaday ('16)

"Being in the Key Club has given me a sense of optimism, seeing good people doing good actions gives me hope that I will continue to see the same things in the future."

Olivia Boyd ('16)

"I think Key Club is essential to the Wellesley community, because it enables charitable organizations to dream big and run larger events that require more volunteers than they would be able to get from just their own organization."

2. A photo of all the Green Team members after one of their meetings
3. Sophomore students L. Higgins ('18), E. Frank (18), and M. Charles ('18) recycle their plastic water bottles at lunch

The Green Team is a proactive and motivated club that dedicates their time to raising awareness about climate change. The work the Green Team does is not just important in the school, but also benefits the greater community. This important organization has spearheaded movements on campus to reduce food waste at lunch, clean up local trails, and encourage carpooling to school. Under the dedicated leadership of Matthew Hornung, Keenan Ashbrook, Olivia Gieger and Eleanor Boyd, the Green team continues to better the environment of WHS.

"It is vital for young people to understand the climate and climate systems because only by knowing and understanding our system, will we be able to address the issues at hand."

TADD

Teens Against Drunk Driving is a student led initiative to reduce drunk driving among Wellesley high school students. TADD generates awareness about this cause through the distribution of promotional items such as bumper sticker and lanyards, that they give out free of charge. TADD aims to spark a conversation about the culture of alcohol throughout the community and what students can do to improve upon this. Co-President Alexa Canzano describes the epidemic saying, "Drinking and driving, especially as teenagers is such a danger and threat to the lives of oneself and those around them."

3. The Chinese room where Chinese Club meets.

The ERP club has had some fantastic after school activities this year. They are an easy going club where anyone is welcome to participate in afterschool activities any day of the week. They have had Afterschool Cooking, Ceramics, Video Gaming, Ping Pong, Chinese Club, and much more. For kids who aren't committed to a sport or activity at WHS, this is a perfect way to get involved in some fun and quick school activities.

"I look forward to the morning announcement all week long, its a great way to close the week an learn about upcoming events. My favorite segment is by far the question of the week."

GLOW

The GLOW club is a place where students can feel comfortable to express themselves for who ever they are. Whether you are gay, lesbian or whatever, you are welcome to contribute and be a part of this delightful club. Every year they have the annual Coffee House to showcase talents from within WHS, and several other activities that help the community come together.

1.GLOW advertises their events around the school.
2. The Rainbow flag is one of the many that hangs in the cafeteria
3. The GLOW Coffeehouse is GLOWs biggest event of the year.

1.

Maddie Blaber ('18)

"The purpose of having GLoW club is to provide a safe space for anyone who needs it, and to have a chill environment to share whatever you are feeling, or just spend time with your friends."

2.

Lily Gribbel ('16)

"The Pep rally is a fun way to get everyone excited about the upcoming Thanksgiving football game and display your classes team spirit."

Saskia Higgins ('17)

"I think SUP is important to have at WHS because it's not only a club that really unites individual grades and the school as a whole, but it's actually a really fun club to be a part of."

SUP

The SUP club is the backbone of WHS. They work and plan events in order to unite the school as a whole, and this year they had some killer events. The annual pep rally before the Thanksgiving game was a total blast, and according to Junior Saskia Higgins, "The pep rally was definitely my favorite event this year. Everyone worked together and bounced ideas off of each other to make it even better than the previous year." This club clearly knows how to bring WHS community together and make everyone comfortable to be themselves.

HS QUIZ SHOW

The Quiz Show team competed on the WGBH program "High School Show" this past year. The journey to the show is a long, rigorous process. The first step for the squad was assembling a team. People who want to try out for the team must take a difficult general trivia quiz written by the two team captains, Zoe Salvucci ('17) and Teddy Sevilla ('16). Out of the nearly 40 students who tried out for the team, only the top four finishers were selected to join the team. After the team was formed, the group traveled to Boston to participate in Super Sunday, the qualifying competition to make it onto television. Out of the 140 teams that competed in Super Sunday, the top 16 made it on the show. Wellesley not only made the show but did very well, making it to the quarterfinals.

Teddy Sevilla ('16)

"Being able to represent Wellesley high under the bright lights of the TV studio was such an amazing experience."

Zoe Salvucci ('17)

"Quiz show is great because it is the only outlet in the school for people who like trivia, an otherwise pretty useless skill. The entire process of being on TV is also really cool."

SCIENCE OLYMPIAD

"I think Science Olympiad is place that fosters creativity that hasn't found a home yet. It allows creativity to be channeled productively into hands on learning, whether that be building a cannon or cramming for entomology. It is a place where fun and science can be in the same sentence." - Abbey Mui ('16)

"There are no words to describe how proud I am of our Science Team as a captain and teammate. I marvel at the strength, the unity, the passion our team has demonstrated through participating in scientific challenges and competing with other schools in the Greater Boston Area. We couldn't have done any of it without Ms. Morrison or Mr. Finn, our advisors. Without their support, knowledge, and experience, our team would not have been able to achieve success it sees today." - Christie Yu ('18)

Above: Mr. Finn, Mrs. Morrison and the rest of the Science Team show off their new T-shirts.

Christie Yu ('18)

"We finished eighth out of fifty four teams, which is a remarkable accomplishment, and something which I am proud and overjoyed. It has been an honor to a captain of the Science Team this year."

JOURNEYS

Journeys began this year to replace Peers and Facilitators and MSO. The program was established to be a way for students of all different walks of life to help make Wellesley High School better for everyone. Students who demonstrated superb leadership abilities were recommended by teachers and upperclassman. They meet once a cycle and plan out events and activities to make WHS a safer, friendlier place.

1. Journeys members T. Norris ('18), E. Tariq ('18), T. Buckley ('17), E. Votapka ('18), A. Witherord ('17), E. Zeytoonjian ('16), C. Nowak ('18), and S. Miller ('17) gather for a selfie after one of their meetings.

Emily Votapka ('18)

"Journeys has been a really great experience this year. We are working on make the high school a much more warm and inviting place. Everyone in the program is dedicated and wonderful"

MODEL UN

"Model UN is a club that attends conferences around the New England area debating issues of international relations ranging from nuclear disarmament to maritime law to human trafficking. Being in this club has given me a greater appreciation for the issues that face people around the world. It has given me a chance to debate these issues from a perspective I would not have otherwise considered. When you represent a country, you come to learn their policies closely and why they have these policies." - Shamus Miller ('17)

DEBATE TEAM

Every Tuesday, students from all across the school gather in room 405 to discuss, examine and argue the most hot-button topics facing the nation. The club is lead by Co-Presidents Matt Lieberman ('16) and Matt Synder ('16), Vice President Sophie Fraga ('16), and Treasurer Marlena Querfurth ('16). The team competes in competitions through the Junior State of America. This February, members of the team traveled to Washington D.C. to compete against other students from across the northeast. At a competition of nearly 700 students, two Wellesley students, Lexie Lehmann ('16) and Luc Pakey ('17), won best speaker awards.

3. Acadec poses with the state championship trophy

"Academic Decathlon is a competition in which students learn about various topics and then take tests about those topics. During our Friday afternoon meetings, team members study, give presentations, and prepare for components of the state-level competitions. I'm really glad I joined AcaDec; it's been a great opportunity to learn interesting things and to meet students from all grades. Between study sessions and cram days, there are so many priceless, stressful, and hilarious moments that have been unlike anything in high school." - Rachel Landau ('16)

Rachel Landau ('16)

"I hope that Wellesley High School keeps its second-place state rank. I'm always so impressed with how many medals and trophies the team has accrued."

STUCO

Every Monday, Student Congress gathers to discuss, debate and try to figure out how to improve Wellesley High School for every one of its students. Any student from any grade is welcome to come to StuCo and voice a concern about any problem they encounter. Under the leadership of President Rudy Pikulik ('16), Vice-Presidents Matthew Hornung ('16) and Savitri Fouda ('17), and Secretary- Treasurer Maddie Petrovich ('16), they group has resolved many pressing issues. The officers have a unique responsibility to make sure the issues proposed in each meeting are heard by the administration.

The mission of Wellesley ABC program is to provide academically talented and young women of color from undeserved communities "A Better Chance" through Wellesley High School and participation in a residential program. The program is committed to fostering the achievement of each student's academic, personal and community-oriented goals through year-round support.

Carol Alfonso ('16)

"Wellesley ABC has helped to shape me because the program taught me skills that I will use for the rest of my life such as communicating effectively wit others, successfully juggling many responsibilities, organizin my time, and being a confident leader amongst my peers."

The purpose of the Wellesley High School chapter of the National Honors Society is to recognize local students for their academic studies, and for their service to their community. Established in 1921, the National Honors Society has been providing an outlet for the premier students of our country to aid their local communities in an organized manner. NHS chapters are found in all 50 states, and it's estimated that more than 1 million students participate in NHS activities. The society is founded on the four pillars: scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The chapter here at Wellesley has continued to thrive in all four of these categories inside and outside of school.

What has been your favorite part about METCO?

"The opportunities in better education is one of my favorite parts. You get to leave Boston and experience new things and meet different social groups. METCO is basically what you make of it." -K. Reid ('18)

METCO

METCO stands for the Metropolitan Council for Education Opportunity, a state funded, voluntary educational desegregation program designed to eliminate racial imbalance through busing. METCO's mission is to provide, through professional leadership and voluntary citizen action, the development and promotion of quality integrated educational opportunities for urban and suburban students in the greater Boston community, and to work towards the expansion of a collaborative education program with the Boston and suburban school systems. Wellesley began its relationship with the METCO program in 1966 as one of the original seven founding districts. There are around 150 METCO students enrolled in grades K-12 in all nine of the Wellesley Public Schools.

GERMAN CLUB

The German club provides is perhaps best described by member Junior Abby Yuan, "I like being in German club because I can organize and participate in events that I wouldn't normally be able to get involved in! I've also been able to meet a lot of other people who are also interested in German". According to Senior Joanna Wu, "my favorite parts of German club is being able to collaborate on events with other foreign language clubs like French or Spanish club. Last year we had an international foods afternoon and we ate pretzels, French cheese, and made guacamole. It was so much fun and I will really miss German club when I graduate". German club is a great way to meet new people and develop a deeper understanding of the language.

"I like being in German club because I can organize and participate in events that I wouldn't normally be able to get involved in! I've also been able to meet a lot of other people who are also interested in German."

Ariana Harsch ('17)

"I've enjoyed being a part of the German club this year because it's a great place to meet new people and learn about the German language. WHS students really enjoyed when the exchange students came from Germany and we organized an Oktoberfest. It was a great way to experience the culture!"

Lily Higgins ('18)

"I wanted to join the club after one event in particular, the Fifa tournament we hold every seminar day, attracted my attention. All the proceeds from this event go to help a young Guatemalan boy, named Marco, receive an education. Considering the amazing opportunities present everyday at WHS, it is easy to start taking them for granted, but there are still many children around the world who don't receive an education. I thought this was a good way to give back and it continues remind me to appreciate the opportunities I have everyday!"

Claudia Martin Marin ('18)

When asked why she wanted to join Spanish club Claudia replied, "I heard that it was a great experience and it's fun organizing the activities for the school."

SPANISH CLUB

When senior Gabby Clifford was asked what she enjoyed most about Spanish club, she eagerly answered, "my favorite part about Spanish club is how it unites people through food and allows members to meet new people throughout the school while socializing. Also, one of my favorite events is when we make fresh guacamole. It is a group effort and a great appetizer for any gathering!". Nicole Frontero (senior) describes the club as "great because we have fun and give back. The toy drive we have helps give holiday gifts to those in need, and money from the Fifa tournament goes toward a Guatemalan child's education. However, some months we have events just for fun, such as our food festival with other language clubs".

A CAPPELLA

INCHORDINATION

A CAPPELLA ANONYMOUS

RENEGADE A CAPPELLA

LADIES FIRST

Wellesley High's a cappella program is one of a kind. The entirely student-run program contains four incredibly talented groups of all different styles and vibes. The four groups are: Inchordination, A Cappella Anonymous, Renegade, and Ladies First.

Enya Gamble ('18)

My favorite part of a cappella is the aca fam that we get to create. I love seeing everyone in AA every week. Being around people who enjoy signing as much as me always makes my day.

Natalie Russo ('17)

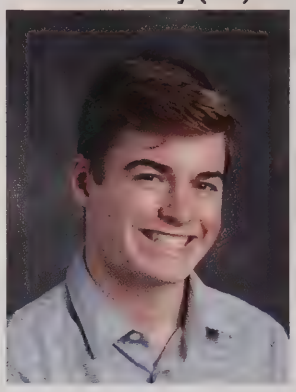
As a new student, being in an a cappella group helped make me feel more assimilated into the performance department at WHS. My a cappella group was an instant group of friends which is all I could ask for.

IMPROV

Junior Cypress Smith describes WHS's Improv troupe, Robot and the Ready Readies, as "an auditioned group if students that love coming up with scenes and ideas on the fly". This fun group of kids gets together twice a week to create improvised scenes. Throughout the year, the group also puts on several public improv performances.

Below: The Troupe performs at the annual GLOW Coffee House in the high school cafeteria.

Liam Skelly ('17)



"My favorite part of Improv troupe is the performances. Having nothing prepared in front of 10-100 people all waiting on what you will say next is exhilarating."

UNIFIED THEATER

Unified Theater is a improvised theater group that writes, produces, and performs and entirely original show created by the cast. The purpose of Unified Theater is to unite students of all abilities and backgrounds through a creative piece of theater.

CHORAL GROUPS

Sarah Cohen-Pratt ('16)
"Being a member of a choral group has taught me to always build people up and support one another no mater what. It has allowed me to come out of my shell and be more confident while also learning to support my peers."

Stephanie Luchene ('16)
"Being in a choral group has taught me to appreciate all of the hard work that is put in to making a piece of music in a piece of art."

Scott Johnson ('17)
"Being in a choral group has changed me for the better. Soloing and singing in front of my peers and the audience gives me confidence for other aspects of my life, whether it be public speaking or any daily activity."

CHEERLEADING

The cheerleading team is back and bigger and better than ever. The team has be revived thanks to the help of the captains Jayla Glover and Mallory Magee as well as their coach Odessa White and has transformed into a dynamic squad with new uniforms, new moves, and new spirit. The team has preformed at every football game during the season as well as at Fenway during the annual thanksgiving game. They have also for the first time in Wellesley cheerleading history have moved on to compete in competitions to showcase their skills. After a long hiatus the Wellesley cheerleading team has returned and is giving new meaning to what it means to be a raider.

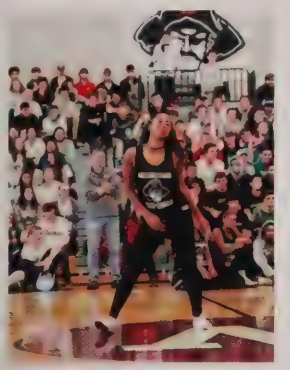
Jayla Glover ('16)

"The 2015 Cheer Squad came back alive from the grave to breathe new life into what it means to have Raider spirit!"

Mallory Magee ('16)

"I'm really excited about [cheer team] and hope it stays since it is just a part of a school environment and really pulled the town together as a community."



Ashley Greenidge ('16)

Captain Ashley Greenidge takes on her third year of captaincy, after having been on the team for three years, moving on to her fourth.

Dyana Guillaume ('16)

Dyana leads the team as a captain for a third year in a row, carrying on her leadership and spreading her knowledge down to new members.

THUNDER STEP SQUAD

The Thunder Step Squads performance is arguably what the majority of students look forward to most in anticipation of the pep rally. This year was no different and the squad didn't disappoint. Their upbeat and energetic performance got everyone in the crowd on their feet and pumped up. The reaction from their audience remained consistent at the night game when everyone got on their feet dancing and singing along in the stands.

1. The team preforms at the annual football night game.
2. Captain D. Guillaume ('16) preforms at the pep rally.
3. Captain A. Greenidge ('16) preforms at the pep rally.
4. The team steals the show at the night game.

Oh high school! My high school! Our fearful trip is done,
The brain has weathered every test, and my legs every run.
The future's near, the bells I hear, the family all exulting,
While follow eyes my steady journey to see how I'm faring.
But O heart! Heart! Heart!
I will sorely miss you all,
Keep in touch: distance has no meaning
Whether great or small.
